

St James duo Slikpik their way to Saturday Lotto riches

15 February 2019

A father and son are set to share $405,890 after coming forward as the third Division One ticket holder for last week's Saturday Lotto.

The St James duo are the final winners to claim their prize, after buying the lucky ticket from Here's Luck Lottery Centre in Cloverdale.

At first they thought they only had four numbers, but after handing their ticket over the lottery counter, they were asked to move aside by one of the retailers.

"I asked, "Have I done something wrong?" the father said.

"I burst into tears when I found out we'd won."

Both men are regular Lotto players and said they already had their ticket for this Saturday's $20 million Superdraw.

"I never thought a Slikpik could win, so I always choose my own numbers as well, but I've been proven wrong," the son said.

A couple from Doubleview and a family from Dudley Park were the other lucky Division One ticket holders from last Saturday's draw.

It's been a fast start for Western Australian players in February with seven Division One wins recorded so far, ahead of tomorrow night's $20 million Saturday Lotto Superdraw.

Lotterywest spokesperson Hermione Coleman said the search was still on for Monday Night's Lotto winner and a Set for Life 1st Prize from two weeks ago.

"It's been a fantastic start to February for Western Australian Lotto players," Mrs Coleman said.

"Our advice is to check your tickets, because you could be sitting on a Lotto or Set for Life fortune.
